REPORT

Date May 2, 1936.

Subject. Communication dated April 27, 1936 from British General Staff.

Made by D.S. Pitts. Forwarded by. [illegible]

With reference to the attached communication dated April 27, 1936 from the British General Staff, Shanghai, enquiries indicate that the newspaper office in question does not function locally.

A Chinese publishing enterprise, which some two months ago was located at No. 118 Tseroo Road near North Honan Road, but which has now removed to an unknown destination, was known as "SHIN PO KAN," the nearest approximation to the name mentioned in the attached letter. No maps, however, were sold by this concern.

Dear Mr. Robertson,

I am informed that a new map of China has been published by a newspaper office called (in Japanese) "Shin Do Kan". In Chinese, this would probably be "Hsin Tao Kuan" or "Hsin Tung Kuan".

I would be very grateful if you could let me know whether you have heard of this paper.

Yours [illegible]
